

3. Jewelry is made from many different materials. Would you prefer to buy jewelry made of calcite or quartz? Explain your choice using evidence from the lab.

Describe and Compare the Properties and Composition of the Earth

Highly Proficient	Proficient	Close to Proficient	Developing
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I can use multiple types of evidence as support for my ideas</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> My supporting evidence is detailed and correct.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> My explanation is clear.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I can explain why I tested certain properties of the mineral</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I can correctly identify the mineral and use at least 1 piece of correct evidence as support for my idea.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> Most of my evidence is correct, but I could include more.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I can give evidence for my jewelry choice.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I can list the properties, but cannot correctly explain the reasons for choosing.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I can identify the mineral correctly.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> Evidence is used, but is incorrect.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> My answer lacks detail to support my choice.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> Properties are not listed</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> Mineral identification is incorrect.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> not attempted</li> </ul>